Fleet and Commercial Reviewed

Both your OUTsurance policies taken to the market and reconciled line by line. Our recommendation moves one of them and deliberately leaves the other alone.

Commercial – 98 Oak Street

Move the fleet. Leave the commercial alone.

You hold two OUTsurance policies costing R46,460.96 a month between them. We took both to the market. The fleet can be improved substantially. The commercial policy should stay exactly where it is — and the reason is on your own schedule.

POLICY	CURRENT	PROPOSED	Δ / MO	VERDICT
Fleet — 9 vehicles OUTsurance OT130005936 → Western, quote 48707523.	R26,860.75	R17,704.87	−R9,155.88	MOVE
Commercial — 98 Oak Street OUTsurance OT129830654 → Western, quote 48929483.	R19,600.21	R19,538.44	−R61.77	STAY
Whole account, if both moved	R46,460.96	R37,243.31	−R9,217.65	.

WHY WE ARE NOT RECOMMENDING YOU MOVE THE COMMERCIAL POLICY

Moving it saves R61.77 a month — R741 a year. Your OUTsurance commercial schedule states: "Based on your current claims ratio, your Business OUTbonus amount is projected at R42,637.61 and will be paid to you on 28 July 2028."

You would give up R42,637.61 to save R741 a year. That is fifty-seven years of saving to recover the bonus. We would rather tell you to keep a policy than earn commission on moving it. We will re-market it properly at the July 2028 anniversary, once the bonus is in your account.

Your surge protection does not meet your own policy

This one has nothing to do with changing insurer. It is on your current commercial schedule, it is live today, and it can be fixed in a morning.

WHAT THE POLICY REQUIRES

FIRE SECTION, SPECIAL CONDITIONS

"A surge protection device must be installed in the main electrical distribution board of your premises by a qualified electrician. The device must be South African National Standards (SANS) approved with a maximum discharge current (Imax) of at least 40kA. If damage is caused by lightning or power surge and the required surge protection was not installed or in working condition, then the insured will be responsible for the first 20% of the value of the claim."

WHAT YOUR SCHEDULE DECLARES

SUMMARY OF INSURED PREMISES • SURGE PROTECTION

"Db protection (Imax less than 40kA)"

WHAT THAT MEANS IN MONEY

Plant, machinery and all other contents are insured for R10,000,000, and this is a refrigeration business. A 20% penalty on a serious surge or lightning loss runs to seven figures — and your schedule already records a lightning claim on 29 December 2023.

WHAT WE SUGGEST

Have a qualified electrician fit a SANS-approved surge protection device rated at 40kA or above in the main distribution board, and send us the certificate. Do this whether or not you move a single policy. It is the cheapest risk improvement in this document by a wide margin.

TWO RELATED CONDITIONS WORTH CHECKING AT THE SAME TIME

Your policy requires a valid certificate of compliance for all solar system installations (you carry R120,000 of solar), and it makes theft, fire and malicious damage cover conditional on an approved alarm being radio-linked to 24-hour monitoring and armed reaction and armed whenever the premises is unoccupied. Every security device on your schedule is recorded as "Unspecified" — we would like to have those confirmed and properly noted.

What is not covered today

We are recommending you keep this policy. That is not the same as saying it is right. These three are worth fixing at OUTsurance now, and they carry over to whoever writes it in 2028.

1 • BUSINESS INTERRUPTION IS R3,000,000 AGAINST AN R89,000,000 TURNOVER

Gross profit is insured at R3,000,000 with a twelve-month indemnity period. On a wholesale butchery turning over R89 million, that figure looks far too low — even on a thin margin the gross profit would be several times it. A fire that stops this business for a year is insured for a fraction of what it would actually cost you. Please let us have the real gross profit off your financials so the section can be re-rated. The alternative quotation carries exactly the same R3,000,000, so this is not a criticism of OUTsurance — it is a figure nobody has revisited.

2 • NOTHING COVERS THE STOCK SPOILING

Deterioration of stock is shown as an optional extension on the machinery breakdown section and has not been taken. Deterioration of goods in transit is optional on the goods-in-transit section and has not been taken either. You carry R2.68 million of food processing equipment including five heat-exchanger blowers and freezers and fifteen heat exchangers. For a meat business, refrigeration failing and the stock spoiling is the characteristic loss — and it is the one loss neither policy answers. We would like to quote it on both sections.

3 • GOODS IN TRANSIT — THE DESCRIPTION AND THE DRIVER

The section insures R700,000 per load against a declared annual carry of R282,000,000 and 91 to 120 transits a month. Two things concern us:

The type of goods is declared as "agricultural produce." You move chilled and frozen meat. A commodity description that does not match what is actually on the truck is the first thing an assessor looks at.

Driver fidelity has not been taken. Your schedule states it plainly: "There is no cover for criminal involvement of the insured's driver or employees in theft, hijacking, robbery or attempt thereat."

We would also like to reconcile the R282 million annual carry against your R89 million turnover — the section is rated on that figure.

One policy moves, three things get fixed

THE SEQUENCE

- 1 We confirm the fleet price is firm
 The Western quotation is expressly subject to a written three-year claims record. We are putting yours in front of them now, so that if the price moves it moves before you see it, not after.
- 2 Tracking, before inception
 Theft and hijack cover is conditional on an approved tracking device on any vehicle over R350,000, and on any load over R300,000. We will survey the fleet and confirm fitment in writing.
- 3 Move the fleet, keep the commercial
 One instruction, one inception date, cancellation timed so there is no gap and no double debit. The commercial policy is untouched and your OUTbonus is protected.
- 4 Fix the three gaps at OUTsurance
 Surge protection, business interruption, and deterioration of stock. We will handle the amendments with your OUTsurance broker on your behalf.
