WHAT THIS COVERS

● Stock R73.3m

Transit R75m carry

11 vehicles

● Liability R10m

Less money, and one hole closed

You pay R51,145.80 a month to CIB, underwritten by Guardrisk, on policy CIB655753C. Bryte has quoted the same programme at R42,305.81. We reconciled both schedules section by section and vehicle by vehicle. Bryte is not cheaper because it covers less — it insures R404,885 more on your vehicles and closes a gap in your liability cover that has been open since inception.

RECOMMENDATION

Move to Bryte, subject to the three confirmations on page 05. Goods in transit and machinery breakdown price identically to the cent, and the theft and business all risks sums insured match item for item — this is a genuine like-for-like, not a re-shaped programme.

ONE CORRECTION TO THE QUOTATIONS

Bryte's monthly column divides the Sasria figures by ten rather than twelve. The correct monthly total is R42,305.81, not R42,868.39. Every other section converts correctly. We have asked for a reissue.

Your liability policy excludes what you do

Your business is described on your own schedule as "import of x-ray machines, marketing, installing and repair of new machines". Every installation and every repair happens at a customer's premises. Your public liability section carries this endorsement:

WORK AWAY EXCLUSION — ENDORSEMENT 001, ON YOUR CURRENT POLICY

"The Company will not indemnify the Insured in respect of liability consequent upon death, injury or damage caused by or through or in connection with work done away from the Insured premises."

In plain terms: if something goes wrong while your team is installing or repairing a machine at a hospital or a practice, your liability policy does not respond. There is also no products liability and no defective workmanship cover on the schedule at all.

Statutory legal defence costs	R100,000	R100,000
Cost of this section	R242.99/mo	R464.67/mo

WHAT THIS IS WORTH

Closing both gaps costs R221.68 a month — inside a programme that is R8,840 a month cheaper. Your nine years of past work stay protected: the retroactive date of 1 June 2017 is carried across unchanged, which is the single most important technical point in a move like this and it is confirmed.

A NOTE ON HOW WE FOUND THIS

Nothing here is a criticism of the cover you bought — the exclusion is printed on your schedule and has been there since inception. It is the kind of thing that only surfaces when somebody reads all eighty-seven pages against a quotation. We would rather you heard it from us now than from a loss adjuster.

Cheaper, and insuring more

The motor section falls from R18,168.58 to R12,163.43 a month — down 33% — on the same eleven vehicles. It is worth understanding why, because a saving that size usually means less cover. Here it means the opposite: Bryte carries R404,885 more sum insured than your current schedule.

WHICH MEANS YOU ARE UNDER-INSURED TODAY

The three large movements are not new vehicles — they are current retail values on vehicles you already own. Your Hino 300 814 is on the books at R599,316 and is worth R783,833. On a write-off today you would carry that R184,517 yourself. The same is true of the Hyundai H100 and the smaller Hino. This is worth correcting whichever insurer you end up with.

MOTOR COVER	CURRENT	BRYTE
Third party liability	R5,000,000	R5,000,000
Passenger liability	R5,000,000	R2,500,000
The one genuine reduction — see below.
Unauthorised passenger liability	R5,000,000	R2,500,000
Contingent liability · parking facilities	not carried	R5,000,000 each
Credit shortfall	3 vehicles	3 vehicles

THE ONE REDUCTION, AND THE ONE QUESTION

Passenger and unauthorised passenger liability drop from R5,000,000 to R2,500,000 on eight of your vehicles. We have asked Bryte to match R5,000,000 and to confirm the cost. Separately, the quotation does not state a single motor excess — your current policy runs a basic excess of R4,000 to R5,000 and theft at 10% with a R5,000 minimum. We will not present a final figure until we have Bryte's excess table in writing.

Two things worth knowing before you split it

Bryte quoted the vehicles on their own at R15,002.46 a month. Two facts about that quotation are worth having in front of you.

MOTOR — ON ITS OWN R158,436.82 a year	MOTOR — WITHIN THE PROGRAMME R145,961.16 a year	DIFFERENCE R12,475.66 a year · 8.5% of the motor section

The same eleven vehicles cost R12,475.66 a year more bought on their own than as part of the whole account. The entire difference is two rates: the Hino 300 814 moves from 3.560% to 3.300%, and the VW Crafter from 4.000% to 3.000%. Every other line is identical to the rand.

AND WHAT WOULD BE LEFT UNINSURED

R73,266,429 of stock in trade. R75,000,000 of annual carry at R3,000,000 a load. R10,000,000 of liability including the work-away cover discussed on page 02. R1.86m of test equipment and roughly R1.1m of electronics. Insuring eleven vehicles worth R3.89 million and leaving that outside is not a smaller version of the same programme — it is a different one, and it does not cover the way this business actually loses money.

IF YOU WANT THE SAVING LARGER

- Roadside assist is R1,330.00 a month on the Bryte quotation. You currently carry motor assistance on three vehicles at R39.82.
- Office Buddy is R225.00 a month — a value-added service, not insurance.
- Strip both and the saving becomes R10,275.53 a month, or R123,306 a year. Bryte's roadside is a commercial-vehicle product and genuinely different — but at R15,960 a year it is your call, not ours.

TWO GAPS THAT EXIST EITHER WAY

- ✓ No business interruption cover — not on the Bryte quotation and not on your current policy either. With R73.3m of stock, one address and import lead times, we would like to quote it.
- ✓ Stock at your customer's site is covered for a maximum of four weeks after delivery and excludes accidental damage. For an installer of x-ray machines that is exactly the wrong window. We have asked for it extended.

Before either option is bound

WITH THE INSURER

- 1 The survey, and your sprinkler waiver
 Your current insurer surveyed the premises and waived the sprinkler requirement even though stacking exceeds three metres. Bryte's quotation is subject to their own survey. We are putting that waiver in front of their underwriter now, because it is the one thing that could change this quotation.
- 2 The motor excesses and passenger liability
 The quotation states no motor excess at all, and passenger liability drops from R5m to R2.5m. We want the excess table in writing and a price to restore R5m before you see a final figure.
- 3 The retroactive date, corrected on the schedule
 Your liability retroactive date is 1 June 2017 and Bryte has confirmed it is retained — but their schedule prints "inception" in the heading. Nine years of your past work turns on that line, so it gets fixed before inception, not after.
- 4 Turnover, wages, and the insurer's name
 The liability section is rated on a turnover and wage roll of zero, so it would be re-rated after inception — we would rather have the real figures now. And every page footer reads "Hollard Insurance Company" on a Bryte-titled quotation; we want that confirmed in writing.

ON THE TABLE

–R106,080

a year, on stronger cover. Or R123,306 if roadside assist and Office Buddy come off.

SUBJECT TO

Survey & claims

A satisfactory survey before inception and a full three-year claims history. Your record is disclosed at R30,000 — please confirm that is the full three years.

ALARM WARRANTY

Theft & electronics

Both sections carry an alarm warranty on the risk premises. Please confirm the specification, that it is serviced, and that it is armed out of hours.
